OBITUARY.

JOHN H. HINKLE.

After a sleep of almost two weeks, during which he was lucid only at intervals, John H. Hinkle, retired contractor, died Thursday night at his home in Springfield, Pa., of "sleeping sickness," known to physicians as lethargia encephalitis.

"Father was taken ill a week ago last Saturday," said his son, John S. Hinkle, "although he had complained of the pain in the back of his head. He went to bed and came into a doze, from which he never fully roused. At times he would respond to a question, 'How are you feeling?' with a reply, 'Oh, not so good,' but he always returned to the semi-somnolent state. Thursday evening he went to sleep naturally for the first time since his illness and we all thought he was on the road to recovery. In a few hours he was dead. He was only fifty-four, and had hardly known ill health for some time."

Mr. Hinkle was attending during his illness by Dr. William E. Robertson, of Philadelphia, who has made a study of "sleeping sickness" cases. He diagnosed the case as a genuine case of the disease.

Mr. Hinkle was born in Richmond, town, Bucks county, July 9, 1857. He went to Philadelphia 35 years ago and became associated with the contracting firm of William Krause & Son. Later, he engaged in the contracting business for himself.

In 1916 he retired. Mr. Hinkle was vice-president of the Home Buyers' Building and Loan Association, of Philadelphia, and was for a time director in several Philadelphia banks. He was a member of La Salle, St. John's, and the C. C. K. T. Corinthian Chapter, R. A. M., and Ivanhoe Lodge, Masons; and of the P. O. S. of A. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 at his residence. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

He is survived by his mother, Elizabeth Hinkle, his widow and two sons, Wallace G. and John S., and a daughter, Lillian, all at home.

GEORGE WALTER SMITH

George Walter Smith, of Ambler, died of typhoid fever, on Thursday morning aged 27 years. The deceased was well and favorably known in the locality, having been active in lodge and Methodist church circles for a number of years. He leaves a wife, Emma, and a daughter, Lucy Lawrence, and a daughter, Emma.

The interment was made Sunday afternoon in Rose Hill cemetery, Ambler.

Work of the Visiting Nurses.

For months a Red Cross visiting nurse has been busy in Whitmarsh and Springfield townships. Many have seen her in her car on the road, and many have already found how valuable she is in their homes in case of sickness. Here are a few very interesting statistics of the last five months. Out of 90 different patients, 1 was French, 1 was Polish, 2 were Irish, 8 were Italians and 78 were Americans. During the five months the nurse made 432 nursing visits. In the month of January she made 28; in the month of May the number had grown to 150. The fees which have been paid the visiting nurse committee through Mrs. Willets, have amounted in all to nearly $125. In January the fees amounted to 12, but had reached $34, for May. These figures show two things: First, that over 85 per cent of the people, who are taking advantage of the nurse, are Americans; and second, that more and more people, from month to month, are calling upon the nurse and are learning to realize how truly helpful she is to us all. Beginning June 1st a second nurse, Miss Anna Kohl, has been engaged by the Red Cross. Her special province is Upper Dublin township and the borough of Ambler.

HOW TO IMPROVE THE TEAM.

Ambler Club Is in a Rut. Suggestion Made.

Too Much Individual Play and Not Enough Head Work and Team Work—Batters Should Try Out the Pitcher—Good Work by Douglass.

After playing championship ball at Conshohocken, Ambler returned to its own lot last Saturday and played a very hot game, and by so doing Souderbourn was able to carry off the honors by the score of 5 to 3. It was not so much what the local players did do, but rather what they failed to accomplish at the right time. All season we have closed our eyes to the fact that our ball club has adopted what is known as "Mechanical Play." By this we mean that each man plays for himself, and in addition almost every player believes himself to be a slugger. As a suggestion, why not each player try to match each play with something just a little better than the other player's? However, when all is said and done there is but one man to study, and that is the pitcher. If the local players will only learn to make the man on the hill work the first few innings, Ambler will win some ball games. A player has but to remember that in the grand stand are many fans who understand the game and not only are the players watched while in the field, but are tabbed as well while at the plate, and the player who fails to take at least one strike is a target for the opinion of those who are in the stand, and while on this subject the same player might as well realize first as last that he is out there to satisfy the people who make base ball possible, and not himself. Another striking fault of the local team is that the pitcher of the club is not a pitcher, but the opinion of those who are in the stand, and while on this subject the same player might as well realize first as last that he is out there to satisfy the people who make base ball possible, and not himself. If the local players will only learn to make the man on the hill work the first few innings, Ambler will win some ball games. A player has but to remember that in the grand stand are many fans who understand the game and not only are the players watched while in the field, but are tabbed as well while at the plate, and the player who fails to take at least one strike is a target for the opinion of those who are in the stand, and while on this subject the same player might as well realize first as last that he is out there to satisfy the people who make base ball possible, and not himself.

After playing championship ball at Conshohocken, Ambler returned to its own lot last Saturday and played a very hot game, and by so doing Souderbourn was able to carry off the honors by the score of 5 to 3. It was not so much what the local players did do, but rather what they failed to accomplish at the right time. All season we have closed our eyes to the fact that our ball club has adopted what is known as "Mechanical Play." By this we mean that each man plays for himself, and in addition almost every player believes himself to be a slugger. As a suggestion, why not each player try to match each play with something just a little better than the other player's? However, when all is said and done there is but one man to study, and that is the pitcher. Estate to Children

The will of Harriet Hallman, late of Norristown, disposing of an estate valued at $696 has been admitted to probate.

The entire estate is given to a son, Charles Wilfred Hallman and a daughter, Kate H. Lindsay, "as a slight return for their many kindnesses in taking care of and maintaining me, and giving me a home during the declining years of my life." The son and daughter are named as executors.

Want to Be Teachers.

Twenty-four young men and women presented themselves before J. H. Landis, county superintendent of schools, from thirty-one districts in the most popular sections of Montgomery county including Ambler, Conshohocken, Bridgeport, Collegeville, Jenkintown, Lansdale, Souderton, and other districts, to take examinations for the purpose of obtaining provisional certificates as teachers in the county.

Iron Cots at Jail Grand Jury's Idea.

More comfort for prisoners at the county jail was recommended by the recent grand jury. The jury suggested that the cots with wooden slats be replaced with modern double iron cots, which are "more comfortable and sanitary."

The jury also recommended a Victrola for the county home, especially for the hospital patients there. The fact that smoking is prohibited in the home did not meet with the body's approval, and they suggested that the men inmates be permitted to indulge in the weed, within the buildings.

A number of inmates of the home who are suffering from incurable diseases were also recommended to other institutions.

Mrs. Charlotte T. Thomas, of Conshohocken, was foreman of the jury and James E. Agnew, secretary. The jury rendered 10 of the 44 bills presented.

Policeman Asks $1500 Damages.

Suit has entered against Addison R. Kriebel, of Worcester, by Policeman Charles Parvin, of Norristown, to recover $1500 damages as a result of being run down by the defendant's automobile. Parvin alleges that while he was standing at Marshall and George streets, Kriebel came along at a rapid pace and knocked him down, injured him to the amount of damages claimed.

The Fordson Tractor is built with over-strength in every part to withstand the strains of constant heavy work. It was tested under every possible condition of farm work before it was put on the market. It has been tried out by thousands of farmers in the past three years and has never fallen down on its claims.

The Fordson is simple in design, flexible in control and operation.
Let us demonstrate this tractor on your farm.

The Ambler school board held a special meeting Monday evening for the purpose of going over the tax duplicate and allowing exonerations. Three teachers were also elected, which leaves six to complete the faculty. The total exonerations amounted to $419.07, as follows: First ward, $105.38; Second, $252.69; Third, $60. The tax duplicate turned over to Tax Collector E. C. Scott amounted to $25,159.75.

TOWN TOPICS.

The "Gazette" office will be closed all day on July 4.

A house, the location of which is on North street, south of Rosemary avenue.

A service gasoline tank and pump have been erected at Yost's taxi service station.

"I voted twice for Lincoln"—B. F. Penrose, of Ogontz, director of the Ambler bank.

C. J. Kemmerer has commenced the erection of a garage on the rear of the property on which he will build.

Repairs are being made to the stone house corner Bethlehem pike and Highland avenue, occupied by J. W. Turnbull.

The Alloway Products corporation has completed the extension of its building on South Spring Garden street.

Former groceryman, J. J. Harton, who resides on Highland avenue, has a very prolific truck patch in the rear of his home.

Walter Rau, of Argyle avenue, has been awarded a bicycle in a subscription contest concluded by a Philadelphia newspaper.

Aug. Scholz has received the contract for repainting the Knight and Sunnyside buildings and the residence of Alexander Knight.

The ambulance of the Wissahickon Fire Co. has just been overhauled and repaired at the Ambler garage and is again in good condition.

Harold G. Knight, Esq., is having his property, corner Mattison avenue and North street, repainted. August Scholz, local painter, is doing the work.

Madeline Jeannette, who figured in the Strassburger necklace case, has been staying with Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Rudd. She will return to Switzerland in charge of the Red Cross, which is collecting funds to provide her passage.

Wm. J. Devine, superintendent for Dr. R. V. Mattison, has commenced work on the erection of a row of 32 stone houses to be placed on a street parallel to Church street and extending from Highland avenue to Bannockburn avenue.

Wm. J. Devine, superintendent for Dr. R. V. Mattison, is completing the large frame barn, which was removed from the Joseph Haywood estate when Dr. Mattison purchased a portion thereof, and re-erected on Lindenwood farms.

The asbestos shingle roof is now being placed on the structure.

A reliable, dependable, easy running, easy riding, economical, in gasoline, oil and assuring long life to tires—such is the car you are looking for. I beg to call your attention to the Buick. Examine it critically, ask a Buick owner and let me demonstrate its many commendable features. —Rudolph Speck, Buick agent.

J. C. Hinkle and family will leave by motor car on July 2 for Los Angeles.

Cal. Mr. Hinkle will witness the big fight in Jersey City on the 2d and will leave the next day on a motor trip that will include St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Pueblo and Los Angeles, where he will launch in the hotel business.

Next Wednesday evening Ambler borough council will meet, and it is likely that action will be taken tending towards the repairs or relaying of a number of pavements, within places are positively dangerous. There are a few other conditions that the highway committee should recognize. For example, the Main street, north of Butler avenue, the tar placed thereon last year has been coming through and people obliged to cross the street, have to walk through it with the result that they carry tar home on their shoes. Something, too, should be done with the condition at the southwest corner of Belmont and Ridge avenues. Here there is quite an evening between the gutter and curb and in making the turn from one street onto the other, vehicles have dropped into the hole, and only the caution of drivers has prevented a serious accident. Our streets, with but a few exceptions, are in good condition and the same careful management of this part of the work will mean that there will be a great saving to the borough, and as a result the financial condition should greatly improve.

The eyes of the workmen of Ambler are directed with more than usual interest to the mechanics' strikes in the cities of the country, expressive of their reluctance to accept the lower wages which is being offered them by the employers, as they realize that if these mechanics hold out much longer building will not start this season, as it will be too late, in consequence of which the Ambler factories will close down and the people who want to work in this community will lose their jobs because the factories will be unable to sell their products. The immense increases in the amounts of gold coin shipped to the United States—nearly seven hundred million dollars in the last year—shows very clearly that the whole civilized world is going upon a lower cost of living and that wages and food and everything else will be lower and lower as time passes.

Ambler played Cape May last Wednesday evening, in the first twilight game of the season. The visitors landed here from New Jersey about 6 o'clock. At 6:30 o'clock the game was on, and at 8:15 o'clock they walked off the field with a 9 to 7 score in their favor. The Cape May boys played a real snappy game, and their fielding was an enjoyable part of the contest. The one big feature of Ambler's play was the batting of Douglass. This local boy came to the bat four times and he made no fewer than three hits comprising a single, a two bagger and a three-base blow, and in addition he was personally responsible for three of the seven runs we scored.

Silverman played a fine game at short for Ambler. The visitors scored four runs in the first, four in the fifth and one run in the seventh, while Ambler got one in the first, one in the fourth, two in the fifth, one in the sixth and two in the eighth. It was an interesting game and there was a fair size crowd on hand to enjoy the contest.

The office of Justice of the Peace Urban has been repainted.

John J. Radcliff is painting his newly purchased house corner of Mattison avenue and North street.

Regular meeting of the Wissahickon Fire company will be held this Friday evening. All members are urged to attend.

Rapid progress is being made by James Bartleson, contractor, on the erection of the Henszey — Knipe private school on Lindenwood avenue.

Ambler has a public health nurse, service and Miss Anna Kohl, the nurse, is always subject to call, Bell phone, Ambler 424, Keystone 10Y. The duties are to give nursing care to the sick in their homes. The nurse will respond to every call, but care is continued only when a physician is in attendance.

When the patient can afford to pay, the nurse is expected to collect a fee; however, the same service is given to those who are unable to pay.

NORTH WALES

Children's day services were held in all our Protestant churches on June 19. All had interesting programs and large attendances.

Abraham Dinicic has moved his shoe shop from South Second street to the former Rorer dry goods store, on Walnut street, where he will later also open a shoe store.

We had two small fires last week in town. The auto of Mr. J. Snyder, on Shearer street, was on fire in his garage, but it was extinguished by the timely work of the firemen. The large frame chicken house of Harry Stillwagon, on Elm avenue, was ablaze on Friday evening. The firemen extinguished the flames.
